FUBIC (Business and Innovation Center next to Freie Universität Berlin) is being established in southwestern Berlin. The innovation campus provides a home for technology-oriented start-ups and young companies in the fields of the life sciences, the healthcare industry, and computer technology. At the heart of the campus is the new innovation center, located in the renovated former U.S. military hospital on Fabeckstraße in Berlin-Dahlem, offering space for up to 80 start-ups. The campus and building are being developed with GRW funding to strengthen the regional economic structure. The center is operated by WISTA Management GmbH.

(1) Strong Scientific Proximity

The research environment in Dahlem, with the Freie Universität Berlin and institutions such as the Max Planck Institutes, the Federal Institute for Materials Research and Testing (BAM), and the Zuse Institute Berlin, makes the location ideal for knowledge-based start-ups.

(2) Perfect Start Conditions

Modern infrastructure, state-of-the-art technical equipment, and favorable rental conditions provide start-ups with a direct and professional entry.

(3) Opportunities for Companies

Additional campus buildings offer attractive space for established companies that want to operate in an innovation-driven environment.
